

SALILA NRITYAM – FINDING ANSWERS FROM WITHIN

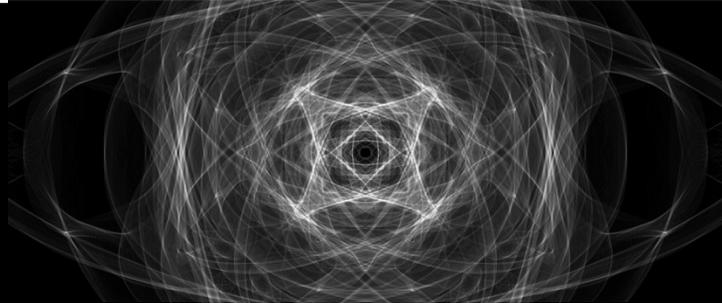

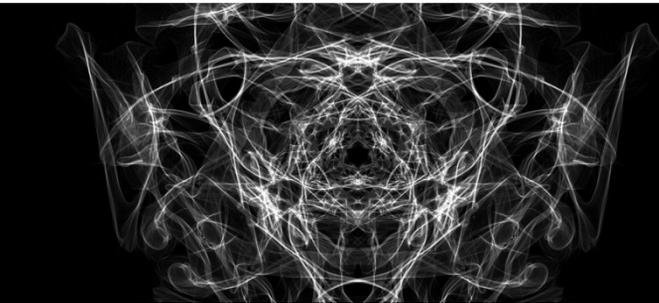

- Our universe has a fractal nature. We can find the answers to the most obscure questions to science if we ask the right questions in the right ways to our selves.
- Over the years, people have perfected the art of communicating with our inner self. Outside us, the smaller the scope of the question, the easier it is to obtain an answer.
- This formulation is not 'pseudoscience', it is 'plus-que science', merging art and science, blending logic and intuition, and leading to philosophy.
- Simple. Ask – Let your mind Wander – Record the answer.
- Since all the six senses are engaged, the output produced in the abstract art contains the answers to the question we asked, plus a signature of our own.
