

When you heat a mass it vibrates and if you leave it in a medium of two sides one that is hot and the other side is cold the heated mass tend to go to the hot side of the medium